PROSPECTUS

welcome

On behalf of the International Society for Extracellular Vesicles (ISEV), we invite you to attend the 15th ISEV Annual Meeting to be held April 22-26, 2026 in San Juan, Puerto Rico!

The ISEV Annual Meeting is the world's flagship gathering devoted exclusively to extracellular vesicle (EV) science, uniting a truly global community of researchers, clinicians, technologists, and industry leaders. "Extracellular Vesicles in Translation" is the rallying theme of ISEV2026 in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Hosted in the Caribbean for the very first time, ISEV2026 will span the full continuum of EV research, from fundamentals of biogenesis and cargo biology to cutting-edge platform technologies, biomarker discovery, drug delivery systems, and the first clinical applications poised to reach patients. Beyond a rich program of plenary lectures, expert educational and scientific sessions, delegates will immerse themselves in Puerto Rico's vibrant blend of Spanish, African, and Taíno heritage, explore the pastel streets of historic Old San Juan, stroll pristine beaches and tropical rainforests, and savor the island's renowned music, salsa rhythms, and culinary delights.

As the premier international forum in the field, this meeting offers an unparalleled opportunity to engage decision-makers, showcase enabling technologies, and forge collaborations that accelerate the journey from bench to bedside. Dedicated exhibition hours, technology spotlights, and themed networking events will channel delegate traffic through the exhibition hall, ensuring that your innovations command attention. Advancing EV science toward clinical reality is impossible without visionary industry partners like you. Your participation propels the growth of the EV ecosystem, catalyzes cross-sector innovation, and ultimately benefits patients worldwide.

We look forward to welcoming you to ISEV2026.

Sincerely,

The ISEV2026 International Organizing Committee
